

LAST WEEK IN THIS column we discussed the transients that from time to time inhabit the lot next door to The Press in what just has to be the lowest sub-standard housing in Campbell.

But instead of "transients" it came out "transits".

We are hearing a great deal about countywide transit system that has been proposed.

But we assure you that the next door "transients" have no connection with the proposed transit system.

A CAMPBELL YOUNG man had a traumatic experience with a whale last week.

Ron Colby, who is on terminal leave from the Army in which he served as a captain, was skin diving off Pigeon Point when a whale grabbed his foot.

Apparently the whale was looking for a meal of seal-food and mistook the skin-diver for a seal.

Ron suffered a badly slashed foot. But undoubtedly, what kept it from being more serious was that apparently a rubber swim-fin does not taste like seal-meat.

It's a good thing those wet suits are made of rubber and not seal skin. Even to a whale.

THERE WERE OTHER "fortunate circumstances". Colby, a graduate of Campbell High and San Jose State, was a medical technician in the service and his training probably helped in the preliminary first aid treatment, although we doubt if Ron had experienced any whale-bites while serving in Nepal.

His diving companion was Merlin Rhodes, another Campbell High grad and a member of the Chico State swimming team who was in excellent physical condition.

Harry Colby, Ron's dad who was on the beach, said that Merlin's stamina proved to be a big factor, for he packed Ron on his back through the sand and up the bank. And that is rough going, as you can well imagine.

There was an ironic twist to the situation that Harry also observed.

Not far from the area he noticed a sign on the highway:

NOT AS DRAMATIC AS the whale incident but almost as traumatic was the experience our brother, John, underwent last week, involving his thumb and a car door.

Now it is not uncommon to have a car door slammed on one's finger or thumb.

But in some inexplicable manner, which almost defies explaining, John managed to slam the car door and lock it with his thumb still in it.

And the car keys still in the ignition.

And there he was, hung up by his thumb and couldn't do anything about it.

Fortunately, his wife, Iva, heard his shouts and came to his rescue with a spare set of keys.

But not before he went through some agonizing moments, thinking what would happen if he passed out.

Not pleasant thoughts.

A LETTER "SIGNED" merely "A Campbell Homeowner" hit our desk this week in which the writer protested the new breed of noisemakers that are prevalent in some areas of the city.

Two more streets to use bond $$$

Two more residential streets long in poor condition will be improved from street bond funds as the result of City Council action Monday night.

At an estimated cost of $150,000, Sunnyside and Kennedy avenues from Winchester Blvd. to the railroad tracks will be resurfaced, widened and curbs and sidewalks installed.

Under the unique policy set by the city, when the $800,000 street bond issue was approved by the voters in October, 1967, the city will foot two-thirds of the cost (or approximately $100,000) while the property owners in the area involved will pick up one-third of the tab. The policy was devised to "stretch" the bond money as far as possible.

The improvement to the street will follow the pattern set when Rincon Ave. was improved through the establishment of a Local Improvement District which allows the assessment costs to the property owners to be financed at a low interest rate over a 15-year period.

The LID also provides for a street project to get moving when 60% of the property owners in the area request the formation of a district rather than having to wait for unanimous approval.

Bill Helms, of the city's public works department, explained that at the present time 70% of the property owners in the area had approved the formation of the LID.

At the meeting Monday, the City Council adopted the necessary resolutions establishing the improvement district (LID #20) for the Sunnyside-Kennedy area and set Aug. 28 as the public hearing date at which time the assessments will be announced and protests heard.

Bids for the project will be submitted on Aug. 21 and the contract is scheduled to be awarded on Aug. 28.

Helms also explained that a storm drain line will also be extended to Kennedy which should also alleviate the drainage problem that has long plagued that area.

At the meeting Monday, the City Council, upon the recommendation of Bill Wren, public works director, ap-

Council sits as new agency for first time

Local history was made Monday night when the City of Campbell Redevelopment Agency.

Although the 40-minute session, sandwiched in between regular City Council agenda items, was devoted to organizational matters, the agency could eventually have a far-reaching effect on the future of the downtown area and the sub-standard Gilman-Dillon-Railway area.

The basic reason for the agency is to get financial aid from the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs (HUD) under the Neighborhood Development Program for a survey area of 120-acres, extending from Latimer to Kennedy and from Winchester to the railroad plus the Gilman-Dillon-Railway area.

Student musicians play in San Jose Thursday

Each summer, two weeks after the close of school, mysterious activity starts at 17 schools scattered throughout the Campbell Union School District.

Weekday mornings between 8:10 and 8:40, children "armed" with cases of various sizes appear at the schools and wait in patient groups for one of the school district's big yellow buses.

Dressed in play clothes, the children are of varying sizes—big ones carrying little cases, little ones struggling with big suitcases.

Who are they? Where are they going? What are in those handled boxes?

These are some of the 364 children enrolled in the school district's annual summer music program who spend five weeks each summer learning to play wind, string, brass and percussion instruments in preparation for a summer concert.

The summer school is held at Campbell Elementary School and is directed, as it has been for 17 years, by Ed Tonini, a regular music teacher in the district.

Faculty for the program is recruited from all over Santa Clara Valley, including Franklin-McKinley District, San Jose Unified, and Santa Clara districts. Some of them, as enthused about the program as Tonini and his pupils, have worked with summer music each year. This year's faculty includes Albert Alarid, Bill Autry, Don Bryant, Joe Cathey, Wallv Johnson, Ray Johnson, Gilda Mazzanti, John Reggle and Bill Resch. Recreation assistant is student Debbie Takacs, a former program participant.

The program includes beginning brass, drums, string and woodwind lessons with ensembles in each field. There are also intermediate and advanced sessions, with participation in band and orchestra. A choral group enjoys folk singing. And, for variety, a recreation period with competitive games in ping-pong, chess and checkers may be taken by each enrollee.

The program is operated on a minimum budget. Students supply their own instruments. About two weeks before the close of the program, Tonini and the other teachers chapter one as many students who

Council begins study of civic center plan

Rising costs could possibly alter some phases of Campbell's new civic center complex, according to a report prepared this week.

For the first time since the go-ahead signal was given by the citizens in October, 1967 to build a civic center complex from bond funds, the City Council tonight (Wednesday) will officially discuss the site plan for the civic center complex as presented by Bill Hedley, city architect and City Manager Bob Stephens.

Among the nitty-gritty problems that must be faced up to by the councilmen is that rising costs during the past 18 months may force them to make revisions in the project in order to keep within the bond limitation.

In October, 1967, bonds for $400,000 for a library and $835,000 for the civic center complex were approved by the voters.

Since that time, because of expanded library plans, more land was required. Other construction costs have also gone up.

A rough estimate suggests that there has been an increase of approximately $293,345 in the original estimates.

The site plan that will be presented tonight will locate the city hall on 2½-acres bounded by First, Grant, Central and First.

The library will be located on a 1½-acre parcel, bounded by Central, Harrison and the north loop street between Central and Harrison.

The city has acquired all the necessary property for the city hall and is in the process of acquiring the parcels for the library.

One of the actions the Council could take tonight would be to direct the city staff to proceed with the establishment of a plan line for the north loop street.

Apartment plans could revive rezoning hassle

Revised plot plans for a 164-unit apartment complex to be located on W. Latimer just east of the expressway which go before the Planning Commission next Monday, Aug. 4 have revived memories of the controversy that took place early in 1968 when the area was rezoned for multiple.

At that time, residents in the Llewellyn Ave. area, which backs up to the site, protested vigorously against the zone change that would allow apartments adjacent to them. A petition with 278 signatures was filed objecting to the zone change.

The zone change was finally approved by split votes of the City Council and Planning Commission. Those favoring the zone change maintained that the Planning Commission could exercise stringent enough controls to protect the single-family residential area if and when plans would be submitted for apartments. The residents were also informed that they would be notified when such a time came.

The time then is next Monday night when the Planning Commission will review the plans.

At the time of the zone change action, Lowell Grattan was the applicant. The plans for the complex have been submitted by Pacific States Construction.

On the agenda also next Monday night is the request for a zone change submitted by Fredtheim, Wolff and De-Grange for five acres in the San Tomas area (north and west of the San Tomas Village Shopping Center).

The applicants have indicated that they intend to construct low and medium cost housing on the parcel. They

Police nab 10 in marijuana patch

Harvest season of an apparently wild marijuana crop growing along Los Gatos Creek adjacent to the county park at the southerly city limits was interrupted this week by the Campbell police.

Ten young people, ranging from teen-agers to those in their mid-twenties, have been arrested, charged with harvesting and having marijuana in their possession, according to the police report.

All the arrests were made at the "patch" in the marshy land along the creek where hundreds of marijuana plants from 2½ to 3½ feet high were discovered flourishing along a one-mile stretch.

As soon as it was learned from an informant that marijuana was growing along the creek steps were taken by the police and the County Flood Control and Water District, on whose property the crop was found, to eradicate the weed.

The police report that the area has been sprayed with a toxic substance but until the marijuana has been totally eliminated the police will continue to keep the area under surveillance.

The ten arrests that have been made since the crop was discovered last Wednesday include an 18-year old girl who was met Monday afternoon by police just as she was climbing the bank after her "harvest". She was carrying a bag in which the marijuana had been placed.

According to the police reports, the plants are estimated

Campbell's credit must be considered top-notch as far as financial institutions are concerned.

Four banks bid on the $325,000 city park bonds that were offered last week; United California Bank was awarded the contract with 5.821% interest.

Other bidders included Bank of America, 5.86; Bank of California, 5.90 and Wells Fargo, 5.91. The bond buyers index that particular week, Jeff Whitaker, city financial director, reports was 5.86%.

On August 7, the cash transfer is expected to take place and $301,000 will be spent for the acquisition of the 8½-acre Hiatt & Zolezzi property adjacent to the city-owned seven-acre Rincon Park.

Excess above the election and bond consultant costs (between $10,000 and $15,000) will probably be used for a master plan for the parks.

On Monday, the City Council following the recommendation of the Parks and Recreation Commission established the procedure for the employment of a landscape architect to develop the park plans.

Park policy

With the passage of the $625,000 park bond issue on June 10 and the subsequent sale of $325,000 of the bonds, the park program of the City of Campbell has now become an important part of the operation of this city.

Comparatively speaking, Campbell's park projects may still be minor league but the potential is great and a definite start has been made.

Even with the park program still on a minor scale, a number of problems will arise as to use of the facilities now and in the future.

To establish a policy guide-line, the City Council, following the prior recommendation made by the Parks and Recreation Commission, has officially adopted "policies and procedures for use of public parks".

We consider this a wise move on the part of the city administration, for it should alleviate many of the questions that could arise through misunderstandings because there was "nothing in writing".

In adopting the "park policy", the City Council made only one change in that of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

The original park policy specified that "commercial or profit making activities are prohibited".

The councilmen felt that particular specific was unnecessary because there were adequate controls included in other phases of the policy statement.

As specified in the general policy statement, the public parks have been acquired and developed for all the citizens of the community.

For that reason, we thought that this action should be publicized:

CITY OF CAMPBELL

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES FOR USE OF PUBLIC PARKS

General Policy Statement

The City Council of the city of Campbell encourages the use and voluntary improvement of public parks and areas by its citizens. The City Council recognizes, however, that the public parks and areas are acquired and developed for all the citizens of Campbell and therefore it should have appropriate policies and procedures relating to the use of these facilities by youth groups, civic organizations, quasi-public groups, private groups or agencies, or a private citizen.

Policies

The following policy statements have been prepared as guidelines to the administration of the use and requests for use of the park areas by any organization, quasi-public or private. These policies may be amended by minute action of the City Council. A special use is one which in any way limits the free and unrestricted use in public park areas or the sponsorship or conduct of an activity in a public park:

1. A request to use a publicly owned park or recreation area for a special use shall be submitted in writing to the Park and Recreation Commission for investigation. The Commission's investigation and report with a recommendation will then be submitted to the City Council for action.

2. Approval for a special use by an individual group, organization or agency will be conditional with appropriate insurance endorsements, licenses, and other requirements as recommended by the City Attorney and City Manager, and approved by the City Council.

3. Volunteer groups, organizations, agencies or individuals desiring to make improvements to public park areas shall submit their proposal in writing to the Park and Recreation Commission. Approval of the proposal (s) shall be conditional upon an investigation by the staff on the design, construction, future maintenance requirements and other factors related to the proposed improvement (s). A denial by the Commission of the proposed improvement (s) may be appealed to the City Council. The City Council shall give final approval on all proposals for improvements to public areas.

4. Priority of special use shall be given to Campbell residents and resident groups.

5. The misuse of a public park facility or the failure to conform to established policies, procedures, rules, and regulations will be sufficient reason for denying any future applications.

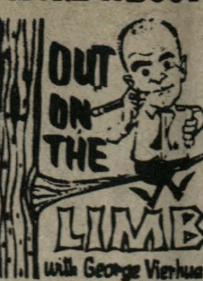

6. Beer and wine may be consumed in picnic areas only. No other alcoholic beverage is allowed on park premises.

Procedures

1. All requests for special use and/or proposed improvements to public park areas shall be initially submitted to the Campbell Park and Recreation Commission.

2. Those members of the staff providing administrative services to the Commission shall alert the City Manager, City Attorney and department heads who might be involved in the administration of licenses, permits or subsequent maintenance and/or supervision of the proposed improvement or activity proposed. A report by those members of the staff involved shall be submitted to the Commission before a recommendation is happen to live adjacent to an area where they can get away with relentlessly riding around and around for hours on end".

The areas, according to the writer, are the undeveloped city-owned parkland and also school playgrounds provide unpatrolled acres.

We are sympathetic to the writer's complaint.

But we would be even more so, if the person would have been more specific.

Or had signed the letter.

FOR THE FIRST TIME that we can recall since we have been covering the planning commission meetings in this burg, the commission last week almost had to suspend action because of lack of a quorum.

It was that close.

The meeting opened with only four present, a bare quorum.

Then Thayer Lyons was called away by an emergency which would have left only three, one less than a quorum.

Fortunately, just as Thayer prepared to leave, Dale Scott arrived, so the day was saved.

Present also at the conference was Bob's son, Bob, who is assistant to the city manager in Ontario, Calif.

And both name tags, naturally, read the same: Bob Stephens.

A NOTE TO US THIS week called attention to the third anniversary that is being celebrated by the City of Scotts Valley.

A parade, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, August 2.

The Mexican theme will be stressed and they would like to have musical groups, combos, bands (any age) and horseback riders join them.

Any interested entrants are asked to contact Howard Hick, 550 Bean Creek Road, president of the Chamber of Commerce in Scotts Valley (438-1552).

CAMPBELL CITY OFFICIALS rightfully are strutting quite proudly, fiscally speaking, as a result of the sale last week of $325,000 of park bonds.

Four firms submitted bids with United California Bank getting the contract with a very respectful bid of 5.821 per cent.

Based on the sad experimade to the City Council.

3. The concession rights at public parks shall be processed directly through the City Manager's Office. A license to sell and dispense food, beverages and packaged goods will be processed on appropriate forms and executed by the applicant before it is submitted to the Park and Recreation Commission for their recommendation to the City Council.

4. The applicant for special uses may be charged for any special services or supervision that may be required in the use of park facilities. All fees shall be paid at the time the permit is granted to the applicant.

5. Groups composed of minors must be properly supervised by responsible adults at all times while they are using Department facilities.

The agreement approved by the City Council will cost less than $5000 which includes the moving of the office and the installation of a sewer lateral.

to be about four weeks old. Most of them are about 3-feet high. It is deduced that the marijuana apparently germinated naturally and has been regenerating itself.

Before making their arrests, the Campbell police obtained confirmation that the plants were marijuana from the County Crime Laboratory.

ences some cities have had recently when it came to their attempts to sell bonds, there were a number of pessimistic souls around prior to the submission of bids who suggested that the bonds would go begging because no bank would want 'em.

But that wasn't the case.

You may recall also that there were quite a few sour notes heard prior to the park bond election on June 10.

It's taken a little while. But maybe, just maybe, Campbell is coming into its own and even the die-hards are being convinced that Campbell does and will exist....

Apparently there is no question that the financial institutions recognize that fact.

EVERYONE, EVEN down to the most callous hippie, just had to be thrilled and proud over the historical landing on the moon and the subsequent splash-down.

Although millions of words have been used to describe this tremendous moon-shaking event, somehow we got the feeling that words were unnecessary.

Each person had his own intimate thoughts about it and words by the commentators, columnists or reporters seemed superfluous.

The thrilling drama that unfolded before our eyes had many emotional highlights.

We suppose what was the most impressive to us, and probably to millions of others, was the flawless operation of the minute mechanisms that made up the Apollo 11.

In no way does that detract from the well-deserved glory gained by the three astronauts but the technical side of the picture is also awesome.

Although the astronauts made their splash-down on schedule, it will take a while for the rest of us to come down to earth.

Mayor Homer Hyde was named chairman and Vice-Mayor Dean Chamberlin, vice-chairman, while City Manager Bob Stephens was appointed acting secretary and executive director with Planning Director Art Kee as assistant.

The by-laws were adopted but deferred was any action on the establishment of a 15-member citizens advisory commission that will be an integral part of the agency.

The Agency will meet on the fourth Monday of each month and at the next meeting (Aug. 25) the citizens group will be formed. The councilmen wanted some time to formulate the composition of this group which must represent a cross-section of the area.

(The Downtown Revitalization Committee has recommended that Bob Dodge, Bill Hedley and John Faber be named from that unit. On file also is a letter from Mrs. Wilma M. Plog, 761 N. Harrison, asking for appointment to the committee.)

One plan suggested would include representatives from the downtown group (3); United Progress Ariba (2); West Valley Senior Citizens (1); West Valley College (1) and other appointments by the Council (8).

STOP SIGN REQUEST

A petition of 100 people requesting a stop sign at Fulton Drive and Whitwood Lane was referred by the City Council to staff for study and report.

PARK ZONE CHANGE

Based on the recommendation of the Parks and Recreation Commission, the City Council Monday night requested the Planning Commission and staff to recommend amendments to the general plan with relation to the areas adjacent to Rincon Park now zoned R-3-S (multiples).

The Council also directed that the Parks and Recreation Commission participate in the study. It was pointed out that the 8-acre parcel being acquired by the city for park expansion is zoned improperly.

schedule by Sunrise Investment Co. on property on the southeast corner of Llewellyn and a zone change requested by Albert E. Marchese in the industrial area at 271 E. Hacienda.

The Planning Commission is also scheduled to once more discuss the possible modification of the McGlinchey Neighborhood Plan as requested by the owners of Winchester Drive-In Theater.

Involved is a land-locked parcel adjacent to the present two-screen drive-in, owned by the theater and on which it is desired to put a third screen. The parcel is now zoned R-3 which prohibits drive-in theaters.

Residents in the area have protested the heavy traffic they claim is caused by the theater operation. The Commission did not change the zoning in the recommendation to the City Council.

At the Council meeting, the theater people claimed that a new engineering plan they had developed since the Commission hearing would greatly alleviate the traffic problems.

Because of this new evidence, the Council referred the matter back to the Commission to allow the theater representatives to present their case again.

THANKS POLICE

Editor:

Last week my house was burglarized. Money and all my wife's jewelry was taken. In three days, the Campbell Police Dept. found the culprits and returned my goods.

I only moved to Campbell a few months ago, and I admit that my first experience (having a burglary) was not pleasant.

But, now the Campbell Police Dept. has given me the impression that this IS a safe place in which to live.

When I called them (a total of three times) they responded within a very few minutes. One call was after midnight, but an officer was there promptly.

Today (Monday), the police department called me. My wife and I went down to their office. Every person in the office, the secretary, the sergeant and the chief treated me very friendly. They returned all the merchandise which they had recovered and I want everyone to know how much I appreciate it.

Janet McChesney weds John Spears at St. Lucy's

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SPEARS

Janet Alice McChesney and John Charles Spears recited vows at St. Lucy's Church in a formal afternoon ceremony recently.

Father William O'Keefe officiated as Janet was escorted to the altar by her father, Lewis McChesney of San Jose.

Janet was gownned in full length bouffant lace with sabrina neckline, long traditional sleeves and a full cathedral train. Her elbow length veil was caught up in a lace and pearl crown and she carried a cascade of frenched carnations and cymbidium orchids.

The bride was preceded by maid of honor Nancy Swanson of San Francisco and bridesmaids Mary Beth Childs of San Jose and Diane Miller and Lynn Tanner of Campbell, identically gownned in outfits of pink chiffon and carrying bouquets of pink and white carnations.

James Spears, brother of the groom, served as best man. Ushers were Dave Milton of Sunnyvale and John and James McChesney, brothers of the bride.

Following the ceremony the couple greeted guests at a garden reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McChesney.

The new Mrs. Spears is an employee of Pacific Telephone and a graduate of Blackford High School.

Her husband, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spears of San Jose, is with Shell Data Center in Menlo Park.

After a wedding trip to Vancouver, B.C., the newlyweds will be home on Dover Way, Campbell.

Review

by Sally Howe
Cabrini Community Theater's "Don Quixote" which concluded its run last Sunday at Cabrini Hall was a refreshing experience.

Several dozen young people, under the direction of their contemporary John P. Healy, obviously "had a ball" and any lack of facilities was drowned in a sea of enthusiasm.

Karl Johnson, a Campbell High senior, was an excellent Quixote, who had developed a great depth of character.

His supporting performers, Patricia Cutler, Joanne DiMarco and Mark Healy (who could easily have stolen the show) were all commendable, as were the entire cast.

Although the hall in which the musical was performed was lacking in the usual stage facilities, the group made clever scene changes and settings, accomplished primarily by "flipping over" a number of beautifully painted cloths.

Music for the various numbers sounded suspiciously familiar, especially those who had their origin in another play about knighthood, which made famous a Welshman, a Canadian singer and a young lady who ended up in Hollywood with a flying umbrella.

John P. Healy, Jr., workshop director and co-author of the play, has talent which cannot be denied. Young Healy, who has attracted attention in productions throughout the valley, took the stage during intermission and presented an unadvertised and thoroughly enjoyable medley of "coming attractions" as well as a number of scenes from various musical productions.

Cabrini Theater will present "The Emperor's New Clothes" August 9, 10, and 11. Profits from the performances will be used to purchase a stage curtain for Cabrini Hall.

Without one, scene changes must be performed in full view of the audience!

Spaghetti feed attracts

The West Valley Senior Action Center, 41 W. Rincon held a successful spaghetti dinner Sunday with a turnout of 70. The spaghetti, prepared by Jack Havilla, W. T. Mason and Sam Bozzo was the piece de resistance, with the salad prepared by Ralph Weymouth a close second. Mammoth cakes celebrated the birthdays of Norma Moch, Rose Cartmill, Helen Welch and Maryanna Pasternak. "Waiters" were Homer Hyde and Weymouth.

Bozzo, project director of the Senior Education Center, urged the group to extend their activities to include recreation and education as well as political action. He showed slides of oldsters (average age 75) hiking and camping at Yosemite.

The local center has scheduled such a trip on Aug. 19, with more trips to follow later. Any senior interested may call the Center, 378-5323.

Among the guests were Mayor Hyde and his wife, Kathy, representatives from A.A.R.P. and the Los Gatos Senior Citizens.

Carnival

"Davey the Clown" was one of the main attractions at the Sherman Oaks School recreation carnival last week. "Davey", San Jose State College Student Dave Darugh, was a member of the student senate at West Valley College before attending State.

Under the direction of Tom Bradler, Campbell Union School District recreation leader, 120 youngsters spent a morning "carnivaling" with a cake-walk, a make-up booth, a basketball free throw, fishing, bowling and enjoying soft drinks and ice cream. The summer recreation program concludes this week with a basketball clinic.

DON'T TRY THAT AGAIN—Alan Seymour (James Black) grimaces in pain as Hal (Edward Church) warns him to stop trying to run Hal out of town. Madge, (Beverly Mathis) Alan's fiancée, is caught between the two men. This is part of the action to be seen during West Valley College's production of "Picnic" slated for a three-day run, July 31 and Aug. 1 - 2. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. at the Campbell auditorium, corner of Winchester Blvd. and Campbell Avenue.

"Picnic" at WV College

West Valley College Summer Theater Workshop will present William Inge's award winning play, "Picnic," on July 31 and Aug. 1 - 2 at the college's auditorium, corner of Campbell Ave., and Winchester Blvd. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

The play, which won both the Pulitzer Prize and the Critics' Circle Award for its author, tells the story of what happens to a predominantly female group when it is confronted by a young man of neither polish nor promise, but with a great deal of animal vitality.

Charles Hoover, director of the workshop, is handling design and direction of the production. Cast members include students from throughout the West Valley area.

Edward Church of Saratoga plays vagabond Hal Carter. Beverly Mathis of San Jose plays Madge Owens, while Fae Uderitz, also of San Jose, plays her sister Millie. Helen Potts will be portrayed by Lorraine

Howell of San Jose, with Ruth Stephens, also of San Jose, cast as Flo Owens.

Other cast members include: Marc Loreti, Gari Wishni, James Black, Marilyn Wisler, Jan Zahner and Dennis Conroy.

Technical aspects of the play are being handled by Bruce Raye, stage manager; Debbie Krawczuk, assistant stage manager; Rod Olevson, house manager; Michael Bowman, lighting; and Michael Ventura, stage carpenter.

Tickets for the production may be purchased at the door.

Homes for kids needed

A plea for foster homes for children has been issued by James V. Conlon, foster home recruiter for Santa Clara County Welfare Dept.

Says Conlon, "Santa Clara County Welfare Dept. is in need of Special Foster Homes. "These homes are classified as subsidized homes and the foster parents of such homes agree to accept children on short notice. This helps ease the already overcrowded Children's Shelter, as children can be put into these special homes until a more definite plan can be made for them." Persons interested in obtaining additional information may call 299-2981.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

With the possible exception of nuclear war, the greatest threat to the future of mankind is the population crisis. Like a tide which rises gradually it will, if unchecked, eventually grow into a flood which will spell catastrophe for the human race.

Every second the world's population increases by more than two people...every minute by 132...every year 70 million more...but food, water, minerals, jobs, homes, educational opportunities are not increasing at a like rate. In the lesser developed countries of the world, population growth is 1% ahead of increased food production.

The foregoing is almost a quotation by William H. Draper, Jr., one of the world's leaders in the drive for population control. His eloquently expressed views are provocative and deserve intelligent consideration by the world's leadership.

In Northeast Brazil, 25 million people live on an average income per capita of less than $100 per year. Because the area's population is increasing at the rate of 3-1/2% per year it will double in the next twenty years. But food production is increasing at the rate of only 2% per year. All the foreign aid we could pump into this and other Latin American countries would not make it possible to feed hungry people without population control!

Pakistan, a country of 46 million in 1901 now has 113 million, almost half of which are non-producers under the age of fifteen. After 22 years of independence with its wonderful promises and high hopes, India has made great progress but its increase in population has devoured that progress so its people are worse off today than before. Egypt and other countries of the United Arab Republic would be starving except for Russian wheat.

The obvious answer is to increase food production.

For twenty years before World War II, Japanese national policy was to stimulate population growth. Suddenly at the end of World War II when seven to eight million Japanese citizens were repatriated to their homeland, a great food shortage resulted. Japan started a program to encourage voluntary reduction in the birth rate and soon cut it in half. Today, thriving Japan has a population growth rate of only 1/2 of 1%. In Taiwan, Singapore, Korea, Ceylon, and Hong Kong, significant advances have been made in the direction of reducing population growth.

Though I have always felt that birth control should be strictly a personal matter, I must now agree that national leadership is essential. Miserable human beings will not be helped with our aid if we allow the creeping tide of overpopulation to inflict even greater misery upon them.

I am gratified that President Nixon has exerted leadership in this field. Like the President, I shall respect the right of any individual to make his personal decision within the confines of his religious conscience. My own course is clear. Population control, in my opinion, is humane and in man's best interest!

Spectacular coastal highway leads to legendary Big Sur

One of the world's most spectacular coastal highways leads the traveler to the heart of the almost legendary Big Sur Country in Monterey County. It's grandness and beauty delights with every turn of the famous Cabrillo Highway that winds and twists, climbs and drops along the edge of the Pacific Ocean.

You'll want to drive slowly and allow enough leisure time for excursions on the unpaved side roads that wind either to secluded beaches or into the rare forested interiors of the Santa Lucia range, says the California State Automobile Association.

At least 25 creeks and canyons are spanned by bridges as the highway winds from Carmel Highlands south to Kirk Creek with the famous engineering marvel, Bixby Creek Bridge, a popular subject for many photographers. If you want to see some spectacular sights and aren't afraid to venture out on a narrow, but perfectly safe catwalk, take the one at Bixby Creek Bridge. Observation alcoves offer superb views of surf, beach and headlands.

A beautiful beach and lagoon awaits the traveler who stops his car at the south end of the bridge crossing Little Sur River. Make sure you stop and take a peek.

South from the Little Sur and before the highway starts to veer inland, a huge, gray rock juts from the ocean, appearing to be a small Rock of Gibraltar. This is Point Sur Light Station. Built in 1899, the light has one million candlepower that flashes seaward for 25 miles every 15 seconds. Looking inland from Point Sur you can see the jagged peaks of mount Pico Blanco (3,710 feet) that dominate the skyline.

Cabrillo Highway veers inland from the lighthouse through stands of sycamore and redwood bringing you to Big Sur River and Pfeiffer-Big Sur State Park, 820 acres in a level valley split by the river and surrounded by mountains of the Santa Lucia Range.

If it's a hot day and you're looking for a relaxing swim, the natural swimming pool formed from an artificial basin with river water flowing through and giant trees surrounding it, is one of the best in the state park system.

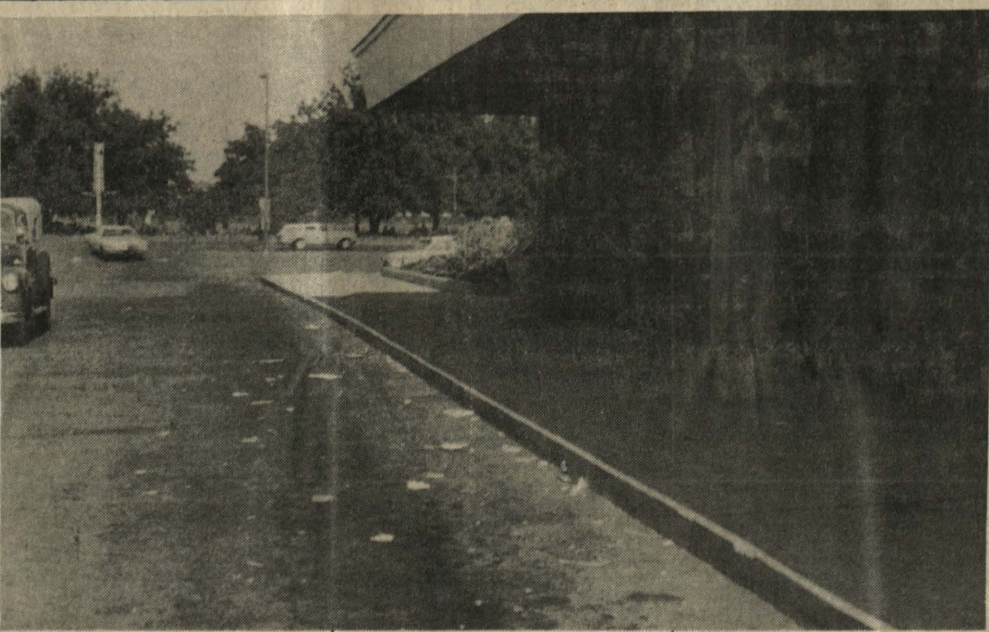

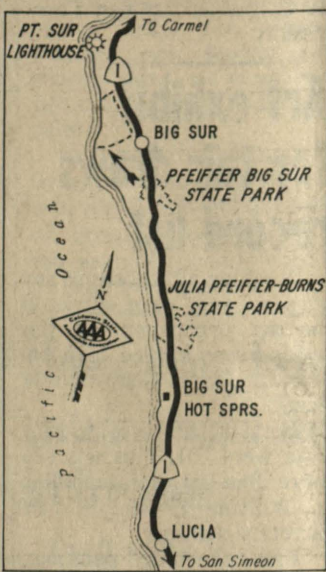

Campers will find more than 200 individual camping sites and 13 miles of trails which also give access to 500 miles of trails in the adjoining Los Padres National Forest.

An easy hike is up to lace-like Pfeiffer Falls located in a fern lined canyon.

If it's the ocean and beach you prefer, drop down into Sycamore Canyon, just south of Big Sur park. This three-mile dirt road (toll) leads to magnificent Pfeiffer Beach.

If you want to explore a canyon and one with some history, stop at Lime Kiln Creek. About 100 years ago there was great activity here when the lime kilns were in operation and schooners put into the mouth of the creek to pick up the bricks. Now, the whispering of towering redwoods and cascading waterfalls are the only noise among the ghost-like kilns still remaining.

Anti-litter is contest check

Merchants, what are you doing about the litter program?

Jeanette Watson, president of the Campbell Beautification Committee, has issued a plea for citizens to take note of litter problems and let the committee know through the Chamber of Commerce what merchants they think are doing good jobs and those who need to make improvements.

Mrs. Watson made her plea at this time for two purposes—the annual Business Beautification Contest currently under way and to help make Campbell eligible for state and national recognition in ongoing anti-litter contests.

The business contest involves all Campbell business establishments who will be judged on building condition, signs, landscaping and special beautification efforts.

Preliminary judging begins next month with final judging in mid-September. Mrs. Michael Kennedy is chairman for the contest which will con-

Fire Dept. warns of tunnel danger

The Campbell Fire Department warned this week that fabric-covered toy tunnel distributed nationally by four manufacturers are flammable and have been declared a banned hazardous substance.

The tunnels, described by the Campbell Fire Department as an unnecessary and avoidable risk, are about 30 inches in diameter, six to eight feet long, formed of wire loops covered with fabric. No reports of death or injury have been received, but tests indicate that under normal use there is a risk of the tunnel catching fire with the child inside, which could cause serious personal injury from burns and smoke inhalation.

More than 50,000 of these toys have been distributed under the names "Batman Cave Tunnel", "Jungle Book Tunnel", "Lollipop Red Fun-Fun Tunnel", "Play Tunnels", "Tun-L-Fun", and "Funny Tunnel". The "Funny Tunnel" comes unassembled in kit form.

While some recent shipments of these toys are labeled as "flame-proof", tests show that rain or washing will remove the flame-proof properties and after the toy dries it is as flammable as the untreated tunnel.

The manufacturers were notified today that the tunnels are banned hazardous substances under the Federal Hazardous Substances Act, that further shipments are prohibited and all stocks are to be removed from the market. Any tunnels produced in the future must be adequately flame-proofed and bear labeling stating that fact.

The Campbell Fire Department will inspect toy tunnels at the request of parents.

TRANSIT PLANNERS—Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens, (left) discusses the county's proposed mass transit district with Jerome C. Premo, (center) federal transportation official, and Board of Supervisors chairman Sig Sanchez. Premo, on a recent visit to the county, praised the efforts of local transit officials to solve mass transportation problems now through formation of a transit district to be voted on Sept. 16.

Answers needed by YES office

Judy Rothwell of the Campbell Youth Employment Service (YES) has issued a plea for students to notify the YES office of their employment status.

Miss Rothwell, who is operating the office at 100 Rincon Ave., reports that many students who have been successful in obtaining jobs or their own have not informed

YES consequently, she has made many calls seeking students for interviews, only to find they are already working.

Also, Miss Rothwell asks that employed students who have been sent questionnaires about their status return them promptly, as she is trying to compile statistics on youth jobs.

To date, YES has placed 112 of their 417 applicants and expects to close their office in mid-August.

A planning-discussion seminar by the students is also in the works. Students wishing to participate are asked to call her at 378-1666, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

What's doing?

This month, I'd like you to meet Becky Moorman, one of our new Service Representatives. Becky lives in Campbell and works in our Business Office. She has just finished eight weeks of intensive training and is ready to help you with any telephone problems you might have. Becky grew up in Santa Barbara and attended the University of California at Santa Barbara, where she was a history major. She and her husband, Charles, live with their three-year-old son on Gamma Court in Campbell.

I hope you're joining us on KSFO for the San Francisco Giants' exciting baseball games. Pacific Telephone is one of the sponsors who are keeping you up on the action again this year.

A reminder from Smokey the Bear: a carelessly discarded match or cigarette—even a spark from a campfire—can start forest fires. So be especially careful during these dry summer months!

State plans to improve Route 17 over the hills

Something IS being done about Route 17 "over the hills" from Los Gatos to Santa Cruz.

According to the Division of Highways, there are several projects for that route in various stages of preparation—all in addition to present improvements now under construction.

Including three projects proposed for 1970 budgeting, a total of well over two million dollars will have been invested in this area over the two year period since late 1968.

Most of these are concentrated in the danger zone at the Summit on either side of the county line. Safety improvements include widening, guard rails, striping, reflective pavement markers, turnouts, and new grading and paving.

One example of these projects that will greatly aid the safer movement of traffic through both counties is an important job finished recently. That was the $200,000 job to widen various portions of Route 17 in the 6½ miles from the county line south to Granite Creek Road in Scotts Valley. These few miles include some of the highest accident rate locations along Route 17, as recorded in the years 1963 to 1966.

Work accomplished here consisted in general of widening portions of the existing highway and paving with asphalt concrete, plus providing eleven turnouts for emergency parking.

Because locations for widening are difficult to find along this winding mountain road, the turnouts have become increasingly more important. Where widening is possible it must be done carefully to avoid scarring of the beautiful hillsides and lush forest greenery. At present, widening is generally restricted to sharp curves or is done in connection with channelizing at an intersection.

For that reason, the turnouts assume more importance and are the most significant contribution to both safety and traffic flow in this area.

They provide space for disabled autos, or more commonly for cars with engines overheated from climbing the long steep grades. The paved turnouts make room for the motorist to treat his car in safety, off the road where it would otherwise block a lane and possibly tie up traffic for miles back.

Current work now in construction to improve this major City-to-Sea thoroughfare includes a large project in Santa Clara County, the half-million dollar surfacing project from Santa Cruz County line to the Sidehill viaduct 4/10 of a mile south of Los Gatos. The project is already more than two thirds finished.

This job also adds six of those important turnouts, not yet paved, but already serviceable and in use on heavy weekends. This project had more to do with resurfacing. In one section, the slow north-bound lane, where the road had been failing and using up much maintenance repair time, was completely reconstructed. For the rest of the project, the entire road was resurfaced from Summit Road north to the Sidehill Viaduct.

The project also includes widening the curve at Collins Creek for 3/10 of a mile just below Idylwild Road. An "open-graded" asphalt concrete designed to give better traction and more skid resistance, especially in wet weather, is already in place from Summit Road to Redwood Estates, and from the State Forestry station to Sidehill.

Stretch of '17' above Los Gatos gets paved

Final paving of two and a half miles of State Highway Route 17 above Los Gatos was scheduled to be completed this week.

Immediately following the paving, traffic stripes will be repainted and placement of the reflective pavement markers will begin.

Traffic in both directions will be subject to some delay throughout the week and extreme caution is recommended. A courtesy push truck will again be on hand to expedite traffic and as an added convenience, water will be available for radiators at the completed turn-out at Idylwild Road.

This is one of the last phases of the 5-mile widening and turn-out project from the Santa Cruz County line to south of Los Gatos which is expected to be completed next month.

This paving was originally planned for early June, but construction operations had to be rescheduled because of the cool and damp weather on the mountain at that time.

While the "open-graded" asphalt concrete paving being placed will give better traction, especially in wet weather, it must be placed in warm weather, so paving will have to be performed in the heavy summer traffic.

Viaduct. Immediately north of the county line, another important project is soon to begin. Bids will be opened in Sacramento on July 30 for a project to construct an interchange between Route 17 and Summit Road and Skyline Boulevard.

Also contemplated but not yet budgeted by the California Highway Commission are a number of additional projects for both counties:

— a guard rail for 5 miles from Route 1 to Granite Creek Road to be financed from traffic safety funds, — two widening projects proposed for fiscal year 1970-71, from Laurel Road to Upper Glenwood Dr., and from Woodward Highway to the Santa Clara County line, — two additional widening projects a half mile on either side of Madrone Dr. Undercrossing near Holy City Road, and at the Laurel Road curve, three miles south of the County line. According to a late bulletin, the Laurel Curve widening with a metal beam barrier in the median was financed just last week by the California Highway Commission.

Art exhibit for fair draws record list

Breaking all records of any previous year were entries in the art department of this year's Silver Jubilee 25th Anniversary Santa Clara County Fair.

Total entries as of closing time were 701. This was 126 more than last year, according to William A. Straub, Fair secretary-manager.

Entries included paintings, sculpture, jewelry and ceramics. The record number of entries was attributed to the large amount of young artists entering the competition this year.

A jury of selection will choose approximately half of the total entries to be exhibited during the 10 days of the Fair, Aug. 15 - 24. This will be the largest art exhibition ever held at the Fair.

Prizes will be awarded following the judging on July 27. Entrants will be notified by mail whether or not their exhibits will be displayed at the Fair.

PITCHER AWARDS—Al Wlodyka of Campbell, Leading Knight of the Los Gatos Elks Lodge, presents the "Best Pitcher" award to Sandee Kensing as Knut Kalstad, team coach and Dennis Chegwin, Elks Little League chairman, look on. The award was presented at the annual spaghetti feed given to the Little Leaguers by the Elks at the end of each little league season.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

CHECK CHANGES

Residents of the Campbell area who are receiving monthly social security checks are reminded by John J. Cassidy, social security manager in San Jose, to report directly to the San Jose office any change of address or other events affecting continued receipt of their checks.

Reports may be made by mail (you may use the back of your check envelope for this), phone, or in person. Appropriate report forms are available at the San Jose office.

Cassidy said this reporting method enables the district office to take advantage of the increased capacity of its high speed communications circuits to transmit information to record centers. Until recently, social security beneficiaries were encouraged to notify the Social Security Administration about the occurrence of these events by mailing pre-addressed postcard forms to a record center.

Events that affect receipt of monthly social security checks, in addition to address changes, are starting or stopping work, marriage or remarriage in some instances, divorce and death.

Along the way with Betty Kay

ALONG THE WAY

with BETTY KAY

is a column written in the hope it will entertain by revealing people to themselves -- their charm and their wonder, not in spectacular ways, but in everyday happenstances. By the sharing of a common experience, whether it be in laughter of the shedding of sweet tears, we become more aware of our oneness. Perhaps this is any writer's true purpose.

INHIBITING MAMA "Breathes there a child so rare, who ever to HIMSELF has said -- 'Oh, see the FAT MAN over there!'"

Where are all those poor inhibited children they keep talking and writing about? What's all this advice on overcoming junior's inhibitions?

I'd like just one little pamphlet on the art of squelching the little dear.

Take the youngest branch of our family tree - please! Without ever having consciously tried, we've got ourselves an embryonic Existentialist.

Perhaps we're having a little more success than some of you, success beyond our wildest dreams, I might add. If you are not similarly blessed perhaps you would welcome a few ideas.

(A warning -- from time to time you'll run across a reactionary here and there who'll mention words like "monster, brat, etc." Pay no mind to this type of anachronistic thinking.)

Many situations lend themselves well to the free expression of the small tykes. Some are better than others.

In particular, super markets are super. They all have most of the things Cowboy Clarence and Princess Penny have told them to be sure and remind Mom to get next time she goes shopping.

If you find yourself tempted to direct little Leroy's attention away from the chocolate oatmeal -- don't unless soul bands agree with your auditory nerve.

His wonderful, built-in telescopic-periscopic lens will sight it from the opposite side of the market and the further from the objective you are, the louder the volume.

Naturally one can't purchase all the boxes with balloons and magic rings in them, but remember "NO" is the detonator. This wonderful little sound sets off the free expression that is going to launch little L. into his well-adjusted manhood.

Keep in mind that no matter how loud it may sound to you, it isn't loud enough for Leroy and he's the candidate for the Brave New World.

I confess that before I read the book I once gave way to antiquated instincts and spanked; only after a doughnut, an airplane, a hot dog (which I refused to reclaim from the deck) and a pin-wheel.

In spite of my "Of Course Mother Loves You Darling and Wants to Make You Happy" campaign, our little Freedom Fighter was blocking traffic lying there barging all four.

Restaurants rank high as exercise fields for progeny's repressed psyche. We've always had wonderful wild abandonment in them. It's best not to sit at the counter and run the risk of involving innocent parties in your private therapy.

Experience speaks here. We once seated our Social Error next to an enthusiastic spaghetti-eating gentleman. Realization came too late but courageously we kept the conversation lively and hoped --

"Mom, hey Mom!" "Skipper dear, drink your root beer. My, my isn't this good root beer? And look at all that ice --"

"Mom!!!" At this point his dear pink finger was extended and there was no mistaking the object of his attention.

"Mom, MAN!!! LOOK AT HIM EAT!"

Dress shops will contribute.

Kiddies love to hide behind racks of fashions and play peek-a-boo. It's heart-"warning" how inventive the little mind becomes. The poor wail that couldn't think of a thing to do yesterday has thousands of ideas today.

Our cutie-pie adores playing doggie on his hands and knees and crawling under partitions -- dressing room to dressing room.

A good thought is to play it cool when the saleslady comes querying if anyone has lost a little boy.

Parry by asking, "Oh, did you find a little boy?" She won't waste time explaining and that way you're in the clear for awhile.

Why go on, if there's any hope you should be getting the idea by now.

That takes care of your problem, but about mine -- has anyone run across a book on the fine art of inhibiting the species?

RIBBON CUTTING--Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens (with scissors) cuts the ribbon that officially opens Campbell Plaza Theatre II in the Campbell Plaza Shopping Center at Winchester and Budd.

Clinic for dressmakers

Dressmakers will have a chance to acquire further professional skills when a special clinic is held at the Saratoga campus of West Valley College the week of Aug. 11-15.

Two qualified authorities in the textile field, Beverly Ledwith and Susan Pletsch, will use lectures, demonstrations and illustrative materials to help dressmakers improve their abilities and encourage others to enter the field.

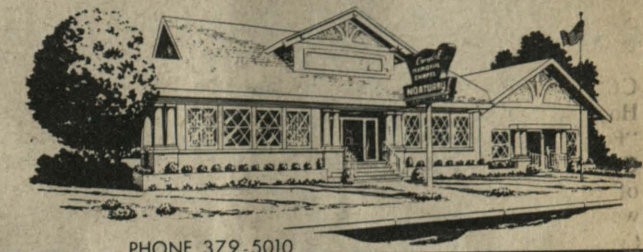

Topics for the five-day clinic include: selecting fabrics, and notions to use; demonstration of skills in the areas of zippers, bound button holes, clipping, grading and hems; fittings, alterations pattern changing and press techniques, pricing for specific techniques and garments; and identification of the need for dressmaking.

Miss Ledwith is a West Valley College instructor in clothing and textiles and has taught in the home economics area in three local high schools and in adult education programs. Mrs. Pletsch is a home economist and a fashion and fabric coordinator in San Jose. In the past she worked as a fashion representative for a fabric manufacturer.

The course will run from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. each day on the Saratoga campus, located at 1400 Fruitvale Ave., Saratoga.

Registrants for the class must mail in or bring registration slips and a fee of $5 to the Office of Community Services, 44 E. Latimer Ave., Campbell, no later than 5 p.m. Aug. 6. Further information may be obtained by calling that office at 379-1733, ext. 58.

Student musicians play in San Jose Thursday

wish for a day in San Francisco to see the Ice Follies. This year 326 students took advantage of the trip.
Highlight of the program is, of course, the concert given at the end of the five weeks. Last year, because of the limited facilities in the Campbell area, the program was held in the San Jose Civic Auditorium and played to a house nearly two-thirds full.

Because of the enthusiastic reception of the community, the Civic has been reserved for Thursday, July 31, at 7:30, when the results of the five week program will be played for each proud parent and ardent music lover to hear. There is no charge for the concert.

AND WE SING—Although they may seem inattentive, these folk singers are really serenading their instructor, Ray Johnson, a former Rolling Hills teacher, who is directing their efforts towards a performance in the San Jose Civic Auditorium Thursday night when 364 summer music students "serenade" by voice and instrument.

Also in the finals are: Proud Flesh, Campbell, with Greg Hutzell, Tim Church, Jerry Holland and Karl Merrill; Southern Fried, San Jose, with Vince DeLellis, Dewey McCain, Louie McCain and Hugh McCain; and Ginger, San Jose, with Mark Smith, Lee Potts, Dave Greny, Randy Brochin and Ken Mutch.

OLD TIMERS

Did you go to Campbell High?

In 1933-34? David Olinger of 62 Page St., found a picture of that graduating class in his basement and brought it into the Press.

Dobie Jeffers of the men's store says that D. H. Kramer, Ed Stojanovich, Ralph Nodden and Mrs. Dorothy Harrison were four faces he recognized in the three foot long photo.

The West Valley Historical Society will take possession of the picture after localities have had an opportunity to drop into the Press' office and pick out their friends.
Drop in.

REHEARSING—Ed Tonini, director of the Campbell Summer Music Program, directs the advanced band which will perform Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. in San Jose Civic Auditorium.

TIME OUT—William Schade, a Cypress student, and Brad Handa of Castlemont are playing a third period championship chess tournament. Kibitzer is Richard Masso, a Capri student. All three boys are enrolled in the summer music program at Campbell School.

Ebb Bohn again to act as fair "cheery farmer"

The Cheeriest Cheery Farmer of them all will be back, briefly, at opening day ceremonies for the Santa Clara County Fair, Aug. 15.

On hand to take part in ceremonies marking the opening of the Silver Jubilee 25th Anniversary Santa Clara County Fair will be Ebb Bohn, who served as Cheery Farmer for 12 years in the 1950's and 1960's.

The Cheery Farmer has long been the symbol of the Santa Clara County Fair, and has been used on all promotion and advertising material for the Fair. However, since Bohn's retirement due to ill health, there has been no physical replacement for him.
However, come Opening Day for this special Silver Jubilee Fair, he has agreed to return for a few hours to greet the children with a smile and with candy, and to don again his big straw hat, denims, yellow duster and red kerchief. He hasn't decided yet, but he might even grow his own special goatee for the occasion.

SANTA CLARA COLT WINNER

Santa Clara All-Stars won the West Valley Colt League Tournament in the final game Sunday in which they edged the West Valley American All-Stars 7 - 3. The American All-Stars had beat the West Valley National All-Stars in a double elimination tournament on Saturday.

Santa Clara will now compete in the division championships in Santa Cruz next week.
